STRAIGHT TO THE POINT

A black and white photograph of two women with extensive body piercings and tattoos. The woman in the foreground has a large, dark, tribal-style tattoo on her right shoulder and upper arm. She has multiple gold piercings in her ear, including a helix, lobe, and tragus, and a small star-shaped tattoo on her neck. The woman behind her has a large, dark, tribal-style tattoo on her left arm and chest. She has multiple gold piercings in her ear, including a helix, lobe, and tragus, and a small star-shaped tattoo on her neck. Both women have dark hair and are looking towards the right. The background is dark with ornate, golden, classical-style architectural details at the top.

Green by Sex

by Samara T. Pants

Green what? Green THAT? I know what you're thinking and it's not exactly green. It's dead and bloody, right? "Think green!" or "Green [something]" may just be the definitive buzz phrases of the decade. You've seen these terms thrown into every sphere of human activity lately, thanks to the mass popularity brought on by "activists" such as Leonardo DiCaprio and Al Gore. Even anti-hippies are on the bandwagon with campaigns, declaring their hatred for stinky, Earth-bred dryads, but love for the Earth. Save the Earth. The Earth is important. But how? Check your pockets; you got some serious dough, power, or a green thumb in there? No, me neither. Wait, but what do you have in that pocket? Something long and hard. Yes, a cock might be useful. Let's save the world with our sex! But first, the green-sex trifecta:

The Disease

Mother Earth is obviously pissed off at some humans if she's throwing diseases and cancer all over us plastic-advocating destructives. It seems like we can't even cook a plastic-wrapped burrito without getting cancer these days. Sex toys are having some similar problems. Reportedly, some of the materials, specifically the phthalates (FAY-lates) in sex toys, can cause cancer and even impair your sex organs. Is that burrito looking good? Most sex toys (especially the jelly-like toys) are made of polyvinyl chlorides (PVC). Phthalates are a family of compounds made from alcohols and phthalic anhydride that is incorporated into PVC for pliability and softness—the reason your dildo can hit that special spot. It is relatively well-known that phthalates cause major damage to animals, but the potential for human harm is still under some speculation. Because of the controversy, some have made steps against its use, like the European Union, which recently banned the use of PVC in baby products. PVC disposal and production has been an issue with humans and the Earth for a long time now because of a harmful dioxin that is released when PVC is created, recycled, or burned. Body heat, agitation, and shelf-life of PVC sex toys could stimulate similar releases of phthalates. Phthalates are also lipophilic, or attracted to fat. If this is of concern, you can find PVC-free sex toys at Ravens Gallery Erotic, which specializes in selling only green sex products.

The Ecosexual

Metrosexuals are out and ecosexuals are in. Ecosexual is a recent term that implies completely organic dating standards; a subculture of sexual adults who check meat-eaters and non-eco-friendly people off their Fuck List and refuse to date anyone that doesn't follow their strict green lifestyle. If you don't use organic lube, you can forget about getting laid by an ecosexual.

Generally, ecosexuals are militant vegetarians or vegans who live a pro-environment lifestyle. Some ecosexuals refuse to use latex condoms because latex is made with a milk enzyme, violating veganism. There are dating sites devoted to the ecosexual love adventure, where some ecosexual vegetarians claim that they taste better than normal humans. Supposedly, their body doesn't expel as many toxins as a meat-eater's would. You might find an ecosexual surfing a website like vegporn.com while masturbating with celery or flogging their partner with a leek in a dying forest. (Publisher's note: Since Captain Kirk fucked green chicks....did that make him ecosexual?)

The Tree Fucker

Somewhere out there exist people who love to stick it to trees. What sappy hole doesn't look appetizing? That's not where this is going, though. What do exist out there as a force to be reckoned with are people who screw for trees. Like FuckForForest.com (FFF), a porn site that sells porn to raise awareness of forest degradation and to create an uproar against nasty paper-production industries. FFF was started by an eco-activist couple a few years ago. Through their sexy eco-activism (eco-porn), the site has raised more than $100,000 for rain-forest protection. Unfortunately, the couple has had a hard time giving the money away to charities because of their extremely public sexual activities. They were both charged $1,500 after preaching a pro-tree platform at a concert, asking a 5,000-member audience how far they would go to save forests, and then continuing to mate openly while a heavy-metal band played in the background. Can hippies be metal, too?

Maybe these eco-problems don't seem too important to you. That's OK; we have the earth-given right to be complete assholes. If you want to make some changes, here is a simple guide to follow.

Samara T. Pants' green sex guide:

1. Have sex with organic vegetables.
2. Eat the vegetarians.
3. If you don't want to have kids and don't mind cancer, use jelly dildos.
4. Watch tree porn, all porn is good porn.
5. Try to avoid pissing off Mother Earth.
6. Screw, for trees' sake!

"Nothing but the naked truth"

September 2007

That's it, kids—summer's over. Soon the rain returns, and you'll be ditching the beaches, the river-rafting trips, and Sunday sailing expeditions to return to the sweet embrace of the blacklit sanctuaries of your neighborhood strip clubs. Not to mention...it's game on, bitches...football is back! Doesn't make the rain sound so bad now, does it? Don't worry, though...all the lovely and exotic ladies will forgive you for neglecting them this summer; just don't forget who's always there for you, come rain or shine, in the City of Roses...the stripper is Queen all year long. Let's get on with it, shall we?

IN THE CLUBS

After weeks of competition at Cabaret I and II, it's time to congratulate Miss Cabaret Oregon of 2007, Starlett. Stop by and see for yourself how she earned that title, and while you're there you can check out the return of Monday Night Football on their three all-new 50" plasma TVs at Cabaret II.

The Dolphin clubs have 80's fever with an "80's White Trash Night" on Thursday, Sept. 13th @ DI and Thursday, Sept. 20th @ DII. Come dressed in 80's garb for free cover, beverage specials, and hamburgers and hot dogs at two for $2. The Dream On Saloon will be hosting their monthly ad girl competitions on Thursday, Sept. 20th through Saturday, Sept. 29th, where the winner not only becomes the Exotic magazine ad girl, but she scores $100 cash to boot. Over at DV8, be sure to stop by for the birthday debauchery in September starting on Saturday the 8th with "The King of Jager" and his shot-glass posse @ 9pm, then on Friday the 28th, Jim and his friends celebrate in the style of the flats starting @ 9pm. Also, look for their pool tournaments every Saturday starting @ 7pm with cash prizes and more.

One club I definitely miss come football season is Jody's Bar and Grill, where "Monday Night Football" starts on Monday, Sept. 10th @ 4pm with a free buffet and prizes. Later in the month you can check out Wendy and Rachel's NASCAR Sunday Schedule event on Sunday, Sept. 23rd @ 11am for a free buffet and awesome giveaways. Soobie's will be proudly displaying all the UFC fights on their new big screens, and you can check out the best lunch special in town from 11am-2pm provided by their revamped kitchen management. And down the way a bit you won't wanna miss the Pallas's Princess of the Jungle Jell-O Wrestling tournaments on Friday, Sept. 28th and Saturday, Sept. 29th.

Speaking of jungles...Safari Showclub welcomes Australia's finest hottie, Monica Mayhem, appearing one night only on Friday, Sept. 21st. You can also score yourself $6 filet mignon on Monday through Saturday from 11am-3pm plus a free Texas Hold 'Em and $6 buffet every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday.

It's kind of funny writing this stuff for me, for those of you who don't know...I'm a five-year veteran of the Portland skin trade that moved up north to start a new magazine, but for some reason, here I am like some ghost trapped in sinful limbo still haunting you in this column. But even though I'm not there, I gotta tip my hat to the gang at Stars for coming up with an endless flow of ideas to keep you guys entertained. Shit, sometimes, the stuff I write here almost makes me miss it! Stars Salem gives the Coyote Ugly treatment an X rating with "Boots N Babes" on Saturday, Sept. 15th with a Texas-style BBQ buffet and prizes for the best bikini bull riders and the guys who can ride it the longest (yes, guys, it's all about how long you last, that's why she left you), plus a bare-bottom chaps contest. You can also experience Oregon's first Kava Bar (Kava is Piper Methysticum...piper is Latin for pepper and methysticum is Greek for intoxicating), which is an ancient crop of the Western Pacific. And don't forget...Monica Mayhem will be appearing on Wednesday, Sept. 19th.

You can follow Monica to Stars Beaverton for her show on Thursday, Sept. 20th, where you can "Fly Away Daily" with Stars Cabaret as they offer airline-ticket giveaways to anywhere in the USA. It's always a hot time at the "Friday Fire" shows by Miss Ty Fyre and Miss Germany. Plus shower shows every Saturday with Reed McClintock magically appearing for your viewing pleasure. And if you somehow managed to miss Monica Mayhem's first three Oregon appearances, get your ass down South quick to Stars Bend for one more show on Sept. 22nd.

Congrats to Victoria of Union Jacks for one badass cover this month. You finally got the damn thing, girl! Check her out in person along with all the rest of Ilya's Angels at one of the few strip clubs in Portland I actually called home ('til they found out I was sleeping on the patio).

ELSEWHERE

Romeo's V.I.P. Club is now open until 4am Fridays and Saturdays for your late-night pleasures, with half-price specials on shows throughout September. Be on the lookout for three new locations coming soon with investment, franchise, management, and modeling positions available—call (503) 990-9809.

Welcome to Velour, an all-new lingerie modeling shop located at 17030 SE McLoughlin Blvd open Sun.-Thurs. 10am-2am and Fri.-Sat. 10am-3am. Models wanted, call (503) 358-1334 for more info.

Come check out the largest selection of current magazine titles and mag packs in town at Area 69. While you're at it, why not get an early start on your Halloween costume shopping by visiting FascinationsHalloween.com? Over at Taboo Video, September is Free DVD Month at all stores. Spend $40 at any store and get a free DVD, and for the ladies only, mark your calendar for The Taboo Toy Party and Heaven's Closet Fashion Show at Ace of Hearts on Wednesday, Sept. 12th @ 7pm. Feeling left out, guys? Well, why not check out the action at The Ace of Hearts Gang Bang Party Sunday, Sept. 9th from 6pm-1am and Thursday, Sept. 27th from 8pm-2am?

That's all for now, Portland. I mean, Jesus, is that not enough? What more must we do to entertain you people, for crissakes? Actually, don't answer that...you people scare me. Until next time, see ya at the rack.

I was busy sorting through hate mail and money-transfer scams when I noticed an email from my editor. "Hey, Ray, there's this all-male tribute band to the Go-Go's called We Got the Meat and they've been messaging XMag online. Why don't you find out more about them?"

Initially, I planned on redeeming last month's spite-filled column with a more shallow, surface-level review of a few local bands. We Got the Meat (WGTM) sounded gimmicky enough, and I figured that a "Steve plays bass, Ron plays guitar, the band has been around for six years..." type article, add filler, would work fine. I mean, there really can't be that much to a Go-Go's tribute band, and a few paragraphs would probably be pushing it.

Before I point out how ass-reamingly wrong my impression of "just another tribute band" was, I apologize to any other bands that were promised a spot in September's Exotic (there's always next month). Now that I've covered the basics, let me state in print that WGTM is not a tribute band; they are the tribute band. Aside from becoming personal friends with Belinda Carlisle from the Go-Go's, being featured as an answer (question) on Jeopardy, establishing an extremely devoted fanbase, and even scoring a spot in Spin magazine, WGTM has what so many local bands fail to achieve: success. In my fifteen years of sneaking into venues and throwing pennies at bassists, I have never met a more serious group.

By "serious," I'm not talking egos and coke habits (although it is worth mentioning that, according to WGTM, one of the members of the Go-Go's spent their entire ten grand sign-on check on blow, which may explain the story behind Vacation). Formed by guitarist David and a buddy of his that is no longer associated with the band, WGTM has a history that parallels even the most notorious musicians. Dave and friend started the band to have fun. Supposedly, only the current bassist Ian and drummer Jason have a history with "real" bands. However, Dave et al. quickly learned that Go-Go's songs are quite complex. For instance, when the Go-Go's first started, they thought that songs of any genre require that all seven chords be used. Even an "experienced" musician (more quotes?) such as myself will admit that the term "progressive rock" doesn't associate itself with a song that rotates between "yeah, yeah, hey" and "hey, yeah, yeah." Apparently I couldn't be any further from the truth.

After crossing the first obstacle to infamy—that being talent—Dave and company realized that WGTM was more than a hobby. By this point, a couple of lead singers had already come and gone. The first, according to Dave, was "Ian Curtis does chick rock," as the lead singer resembled Joy Division's and added a not-so-much-needed touch of wrist-slitting and clove cigarettes to the band. Next up was a local Portland DJ who, according to the band, had problems prioritizing his ego, personal drama, and band practices. He'd probably get a boner if his name was printed in Exotic, so we'll save a zipper some wear. After several other attempts at finding a lead singer proved worthless, the band began its downward spiral into drugs and depression.

Well, not really, but it sounds like a fucking VH1 special, doesn't it? Ahem.

David decided to go online to the Go-Go's website (which links WGTM on the main page) and posted a bulletin in the message-board section. Within hours, "Paulinda" responded. Not just another casual Go-Go's fan, Paul showed up to practice ready to rock, and when Dave offered up the lyric sheets to him, Paul replied with a look that defined the phrase, "bitch, please." According to the legend himself, Paul has been "singing these songs since (he) was a little boy in the shower" and needed zero assistance remembering even the most obscure Go-Go's songs. But enough about little boys in showers. Practice after practice, gig after gig, Paul proved that he was born to sing "Our Lips Are Sealed" in drag.

For WGTM, destiny and fate are more than stripper names. Backstage after a performance in Las Vegas, WGTM was introduced to Belinda Carlisle of the Go-Go's. Beads of sweat poured out of David's skin, each one with its own worry. Lawsuits? Criticism? A kick to the nuts? These are all things that the Go-Go's have never had to worry about, and now the queen of the pack is making her way into the bar as David slowly sinks into reality. Soon after, WGTM began their downward spiral into drugs and depression.

Again, I'm fucking kidding.

In an ironic twist, the meeting of WGTM and Belinda Carlisle ended up in a continuing close friendship between the two bands. From pet names in emails to shout-outs in liner notes, WGTM and the Go-Go's actually get along quite well. So far, not one lawsuit has emerged (sans the 2002 school shootings in Lutz, FL, which were originally blamed on the Go-Go's but have since been pinned on Bananarama), and there is now a two-way street of fandom between the masters and the apprentices.

Taking a few sentences to cover the dry, boring bases of any music column, WGTM has performed dozens of shows in their six-plus years of performing. There are no WGTM albums available, but merchandise sells like crack-laced hotcakes. Make sure to check out www.wegotthemeat.com for the latest on WGTM. Clowns and hot dogs for the kids, offer void in Kentucky.

As many Exotic readers know from last month's article (or will see in next month's Tales), I tend to come off as a complete prick who thinks he knows goddamned everything about music. Trust me, I was ready to rip these guys a new one. However, WGTM proves the jaded critic wrong in every aspect. Talent, respect from their elders, and dedication. WGTM has what most other Portland bands will never see. Even vegans will learn to love The Meat.

Is it just me, or does it seem like the summer flew by quick as hell? Even though it went by faster than a crackhead running from a pit, there were still some live-ass functions poppin'! In this month's column, I'll give you the scoop on some of the jointz I checked out. There's also a new spot for the grown & sexy folks in the hood that's a real breath of fresh air for those that enjoy live music! Plus I have an exclusive interview with MAJR D for y'all to peep. Not only that, my Honey of the Month is a Full Tilt Rider! Roll it, seal it, spark it up, and let's go...

by j.mack

you plugged in! So many local artists have some hot shit right now, but there aren't that many outlets for them to perform at. That's all about to change! Holla at ya boyyyy!

MAJR D

Mack's MC Spotlight

This month it shines brightly on a true hip-hop hustler by the name of MAJR D. This cat stays on the grind 24/7, and I caught up with him the other day to get the scoop on his career. Here's how that interview went:

First Up... "Highlights of a Fast Summer"

One of the shows that I gotta give props to was the live performance that DJ Quik gave at the Greek Cusina. Accompanied by AMG, Quik put on a stellar performance for the packed house. When he went onstage, there were still people in line outside the Greek waiting to get in. He did some of his old-school classics as well as his new jointz! The crowd was rockin' to every joint that he dropped! Even though there was half a million police in front of the club, the evening jumped off without any incidents at all! Another highlight of my summer occurred at Stars in Beaverton. If my memory serves me correctly, it was a hot Thursday night, and I was rollin' with my partna' Mohammad. We were posted up in the VIP when the DJ announced, "Coming to the stage next is our very special guest, Little Pixie!" When I looked toward the stage to check her out, I tripped out that she was a midget. Not only that, man, this chick had ass! I had never in my life scene anything like that before! Little Pixie stands a tad bit over three feet tall and was workin' the stage like it was nothing! She was on the pole and everything! Her whole rack was completely full with people that were buggin' out just as hard as I was! They were making it rain all over her for the entire set. I was still trippin' off the size of her ass! Everything was tiny except for that! 4Real! Little Pixie definitely had it on and crackin' that night...big ups, girl!

Next Up ... "P shaw's Caribbean Grill"

This spot has it all, from a cool mixture of people to some of the best Caribbean food in town! Then on top of that, the "Live Music" is the breath of fresh air that North Portland has been needing for a long time! I'm currently hosting a night at P shaw's called "Sound Stage" every Thursday with Twin Life. We both perform live each week and open the stage to local artists that want to get down! On Friday night my fam Big Dubb aka William Travis has it crackin' with "Music & Martinis." They give away free appetizers with every drink purchased. That's love! On Saturdays it's a big phat dance party with the Slushie Saturday Happy Hour from 4pm until 8pm, with DJ Socc holdin' it down with straight cutz! If you're interested in performing at P shaw's, hit me up @ www.myspace.com/mrjmack, and I'll get

J: For those out there that may not know you yet, where are you from and how long have you been doing ya thang?

MAJR D: I'm straight out the 503 and I've been doing it real serious for the last five years.

J: How did you come up with your name?

MAJR D: Actually, man, my partner Tnutty from Sacramento gave me the name. That's my homie and we both been doing thangs for a while.

J: What do you feel separates you from a lot of other MCs and hip-hop artists out there?

MAJR D: My music, 'cause I do it to death! Then I advertise on television and word of mouth! I'm original and I give people real art!

J: What do you have coming up where people can check you out at?

MAJR D: On September 14th, 2007, I'm doing it real big with my guy Celly Cell, 1st Degree, and Chris Ray. It's an all-ages show, and the ladies are free before 10:30pm. It's goin' down at the Hawthorne Theater, located at 1507 S.E. 39th.

J: If my readers need any further info on you, your music, and your shows, how can they get at ya?

MAJR D: They can hit me at majrd.com or on myspace at www.myspace.com/majrd. I also got beats and verses for sale!

J: That's whatz up man, and I'll see you at the show!

MAJR D: 4sho, man and thanks for looking out.

Honey of the Month

This is the sexy Asia Voo, who happens to be a member of the motorcycle club "Full Tilt Riders"! I dig that a lot. Keep it poppin', love, and give ya boy a spin sometime, aiyite? Congrats on being the September 2007 Honey of the Month!

Whatz Crackin' Sponsors

503girls.com...the flyest adult website in the whole damn town! Keep doing ya thang, "B"! And thanks for hookin' up whatzcrackin.com for me, fam! ... Heaven's Closet...giving the ladies that sexy gear that us men love to see 'em in!

Until next month, y'all keep it crackin'!

One Love,
J.Mack

Rocket

Drop Dead Sexy Pinups

by Elektra Luxx

Guns, guitars, coffins, big boobs, "S"-line hips, and rockets decorate some of the finest-looking girls you'll see in graphics. Mark Wasyl's Drop Dead Sexy Pin-ups tempt visually with Barbie-doll dimensions and sassy attitudes. Dames can only be this hot in print. Wasyl is based in LA, and his girls are inspired by everything from Black Sabbath to lowbrow art. They're sported on all sorts of things, including skin and T-shirts. More from Wasyl himself:

Who and what inspires your style?

My style is a combination of my background in graphic design combined with my love and admiration for pin-ups, rock 'n' roll, and street culture. The artists that get me off and inspire me (in no particular order) are Rian Hughes, Ragnar, Pushead, Coop, J. Scott Campbell, Celia Calle, Shepard Fairy, Ashley Wood, Frazetta, George Petty, Gil Elvgren, Luis Royo, Ryan McGinness, Olivia, Simon Bisley, and Simone Legno, to name a few.

How do you create your girls?

I used to start off with some pencil sketches, scan them into the computer, and finish them up using Illustrator. Over time I've gotten more and more comfortable skipping the first step of the pencil sketch, and now I just start and finish them in Illustrator.

What is it about pin-up art that attracts you?

Pin-up girls are these unattainable ideals created to hint at all our hidden desires and to drive us crazy. I think at times pin-ups are hotter than the real thing, except for my wife, of course.

Where are your pictures displayed?

I have my artwork in various art shows and events throughout the year. I just agree to do these shows as they come. I haven't made much of a push just yet to get my stuff into galleries. My goal is to at some point get my works printed onto skate decks, posters, and other merchandise and make it available in retail shops and online stores.

Are your girls based off of real dames?

Most of my girls are just made-up. But when I do use a model as reference, it can be any one of the many fetish models and/or inked girls out there. I love using girls with just the right amount of attitude, naughtiness, and devilish charm.

What sets your style apart from others?

My approach and choice of medium, possibly. Not that what I'm doing is entirely new, but it's mixed into an arena where most pin-up art that we are used to seeing has a more realistic quality. I think my artwork separates itself a bit from the normal pin-up.

Do you think pin-up art loses something when it is digitalized?

In terms of the physical presentation, sure. You tend to lose the depth and texture of oil paints on a piece of canvas. However, my canvas prints do look pretty rad in large sizes.

What inspires you to keep your girls so clean?

My clean approach has a lot to do with my graphic-design background as well as just having a great appreciation for simple composition and clean lines.

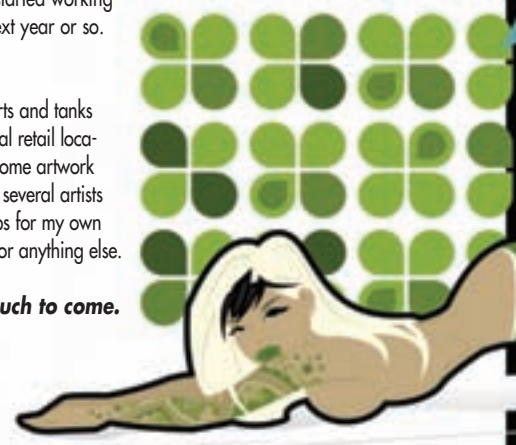

Are there any other art mediums that you've dabbled in?

Let's see. Pencils, pen, and ink, colored pencils, markers, and I just started working with acrylic paints. Expect to see some of my paintings within the next year or so.

What are you working on right now?

I just finished up the designs and illustrations for my next round of shirts and tanks which will be available through the SikWorld website as well as several retail locations, like the Hustler Store in Hollywood. Also, I just finished getting some artwork together for a book that will be published later this year. I'll be one of several artists whose artwork will be featured. I'm always working on various pin-ups for my own portfolio, which can in turn be licensed for mobile wallpapers, shirts, or anything else.

Wasyl's just getting started, so be on the lookout of much to come. If you like his stuff, you can see more of it at www.dropdeadsexyPIN-UPS.com or visit his MySpace at www.myspace.com/mwasyl.
